

Dear ladies and gentlemen,

Museum of Archaeology and History in Elbląg (Poland) has started to prepare a new project "Comenius- five centuries of modern education" co-financed from Norwegian Financial Mechanism. During implementation this project we will create a new educational programme aimed at closer cooperation between museums and schools. We want to promote the museum as an institution which not only interested in the past, but it can also create the future. Museum would like to draw attention to the potential of such institutions as a partner for other institutions and even private companies.

For example, now the museum is developing the first training workshop for high school students of gastronomy schools. The workshop will involve the transfer of knowledge about regional cuisine, the development of the modern version of the "historical" food and their promotion. The result of this collaboration is publishing this historical recipes and putting them into ofety regional restaurants. Our museum in this way can affect the rich gastronomic offer and increase attractivnes the city. During a new program we will also create a new laboratory to digitalization of the exhibits. thanks to this we will be able to perform modern 3D documentation as well as provide training and workshops for students.

We are looking for a partner, a museum or other cultural institution, which carries out such activities or would like to start it with us. We expect cooperation at the level of consultation and professional support. We are interested to yours educational program.

Now we realize project "Museums over the borders" co-funded from UE by The Lithuania-Poland-Russia European Neighbiurhood and Partnership Instrument Cross-border Cooperation Programme 2007-2013.

The project has its own website: www.mob.elblag.pl.

Our museum has experience in projects both domestic and international.
